The highest rate (41,2%) states that the most part of teachers can interact and communicate fluently although 55,6% do not have an English certificate. This points out that a part of no-English teachers, try to implement their language skills.

As extra result we would reach a higher rate in this field, or at least ,reduce the fields of “communicate on the telephone and retell a simple story” , increasing the following “express opinion and ask for others opinion” and above.
